

Security Vendors

Absolute Software's flagship product, ComputraceOne is a laptop recovery and data deletion solution. An agent is installed on each laptop (subject to the model, persistent BIOS support is available), and in the event of loss or theft, can be used to locate the laptop and delete sensitive information.

Barracuda specialise in hardware based web and mail security with very high spam detection rates. They are very strong in the mail archiving, IM filtering, SSL VPN, and on site/off site backup market as well.

Blue Coat are highly regarded specialists in hardware proxy servers, WAN acceleration, and anti-virus scanning. Other capabilities include URL filtering, packet shaping and remote access solutions.

Kaspersky specialise in anti-virus. They have made a name for themselves by regularly topping detection rate comparisons and have a firm foothold in the corporate market.

McAfee are one of the worlds leading security vendors and have a very broad product range. From desktop anti-virus and encryption, through to data loss prevention, network IPS, and vulnerability scanning.

Trusted IT Security Specialist

AVR was founded in 2002 as a specialist Anti Virus security reseller. We have since become firmly established as a leading supplier of IT Security Solutions to the UK market. AVR is part of an international group of companies called Imago Group Plc, with offices in 9 countries worldwide & a turnover in excess of 35 million pounds.

At AVR we understand that our customers choose to do business with us, we continually strive to repay that loyalty and trust by providing excellent and friendly customer service and technical expertise, with open and honest communications at all times.

AVR's Product Portfolio brings together our main vendors in one useful document. Our security solutions have been hand picked to keep you secure in an ever evolving world.

Security Vendors

Becrypt's encryption solutions are used by organisations such as the UK Government and the Ministry of Defense. Their products cover desktops, laptops, PDAs, USB sticks, mobile devices and removable media such as CDs.

Juniper are focused on network security and performance solutions. They offer WAN acceleration, IPS, SSL VPN, unified access control solutions, as well as network management and routing.

Computer Associates are a longstanding vendor, and have a range of security products. CA offers anti-virus, anti-spyware, anti-spam, gateway security, host IPS products, and have a good foothold in the backup market.

PineApp focus solely on mail and web solutions, all of their solutions are appliance based. They offer web and mail filtering as well as mail encryption and mail archiving.

Checkpoint are a reputable vendor and have a large range of solutions encompassing many aspects of security. They made their name in firewalls, but have very strong encryption and VPN solutions.

PGP (Pretty Good Privacy) are a large encryption vendor and are very well established in the market. They offer encryption for whole disk, mail, windows, shares and USB devices.

Clearswift specialise in mail and web security. Their focus on these two areas enables them to achieve very high spam detection rates, and a large URL database. They offer both software and appliance based solutions.

Riverbed are a well established vendor that focus solely on acceleration, they offer WAN acceleration, application acceleration, acceleration to remote devices, as well as wide area file services.

F-Secure focus on anti-virus, they cover desktops, servers, file servers, e-mail and internet gateways, as well as smartphones. They use three AV engines and achieve high detection rates.

RSA are the security division of EMC and offer a large range of solutions, mainly focused on industry standards compliance. They offer encryption, access control, data loss prevention and many other solutions.

GFI have a range of solutions and are focused on the small & medium business sectors. They offer web and mail security, archiving, vulnerability scanning, event log management, and network monitoring.

Sophos, who recently acquired Utimaco, focus on endpoint security. They have desktop anti-virus, network access control, email and web security, and encryption solutions available.

Security Vendors

Symantec are a very large security and backup vendor. They have a varied portfolio, from backup through to endpoint security, as well as encryption and data loss prevention solutions.

Tipping Point are a large network security vendor specialising in intrusion prevention and network access control. They also offer a managed IPS service in conjunction with Counterpane.

Trend Micro are a well established security vendor and have a varied portfolio, including anti-virus, email encryption, and data loss prevention. They have a strong drive towards virtual solutions, compatible with VMWare.

Utimaco, who were recently acquired by Sophos, specialise in data loss prevention, encryption and email security. They also have solutions aimed at compliance and auditing, and are a well respected vendor in their arena.

Webroot made their name in the anti-spyware arena, and now have a good foothold in the corporate marketplace. They still specialise in anti-spyware but also have managed mail and web security solutions.

Websense specialise in mail and web security. They are widely known for having the most comprehensive URL database in the industry and excellent reporting, they offer both managed and on premise solutions.

AVR Professional Services

Today more than ever before, budgets and resources are being stretched. Therefore, it is critical for IT professionals to find a partner that can help maximise budgets and still select specific security solutions that address their needs.

AVR is the trusted security partner for literally thousands of companies. Our security specialists are here to assist you and become an extension of your internal IT organisation for any or all of your information security needs.

Our Technical Services team collectively have 35+ years of experience from the information security officer, customer, salesman, engineer, developer, and yes, even the attacked. Our staff understands that it is difficult to justify information security needs before something happens and takes you and your team away from your existing duties. From our established sales staff to our most recent additions, AVR takes information security very seriously. That is why AVR is a leader in network security solutions. We offer best of breed information security solutions in Email Filtering, Web Filtering, Encryption, Data Loss Prevention, IPS, AV & Professional Services.

- ✓ Free Telephone Support
- ✓ On-site Technical Consultancy
- ✓ Migration Services
- ✓ Product Training & Knowledge Transfer sessions
- ✓ 1-2-1 Product Demonstrations
- ✓ Online Video Product Demonstrations
- ✓ Remote Technical Support